

The Council of Christians and Jews Manchester

God's Unfailing Word

The Church of England has, for the first time, put into one document how it relates to the Jewish community. Without Judaism, there would be no Christianity. Yet Christians have been responsible for much of the world's anti-Judaism over the centuries. "God's Unfailing Word" tells the story and offers a way forward for Christians today to engage positively with their Jewish neighbours. There are sections on how the church should speak, act and live - with chapters on mission, teaching, the land of Israel and shared ethics.

We offer a chance to examine this book with one of its authors, with a distinguished rabbi who has worked in this field for many years, and with a representative of the Roman Catholic Church, all of whom are facing these questions.

Rt Revd Michael Igrave is the Bishop of Lichfield. He chaired the group of people who wrote "God's Unfailing Word". He is also chair of the Board of Trustees for CCJ.

Rabbi David Rosen is the International Director of Interreligious Affairs of the American Jewish Committee and Director of its Heilbrunn Institute for International Interreligious Understanding. Based in Jerusalem, he is a member of the Chief Rabbinate of Israel's Commission for Interreligious Dialogue

Sister Teresa Brittain is a member of the Roman Catholic Religious Congregation of Our Lady of Sion, and a Trustee of CCJ. Based in Manchester, she has travelled to support many projects of Christian-Jewish engagement in all the continents of the world.
